

Fly To The Sky, You Don't Know (good-bye)

Don't talk, just leave me a smile and go.

Even if I don't hear the saddest words in the world, I know now.

I see that a time to put up a dream-like love as come to me as well.

I'd probably find out what pain is.

Always I am only yours. Already you're the only thing living inside me.

We'll only be together until today but take this heart with you and go.

Good-Bye.

As if its nothing, you turn away first.

This loss I have to cope with by myself must be my share.

If I bury the precious memories your hands have given me deep into time, then it'd probably become little cloudy.

You've left and although I have to fill this empty seat with my tears

As much as we loved, I wish you that much happiness.

Good-Bye

I wasn't prepared for the seperation that came to give me sadness.

Do you not know of me who's saying over and over again, don't go?

Always I am only yours. Already you're the only thing living inside me.

We'll only be together until today but take this heart with you and go.

Good-Bye.

You've left and although I have to fill this empty seat with my tears

As much as we loved, I wish you that much happiness.

Good-Bye