

Flying Blind, Love Konnection

Had you been told before
What I said the other night
I've assumed you always are
You know that I have never been
Attracted to the normal kind of girl
And once again I am right

I guess I should have known before
To never look them in the eyes
Without focusing afar
Truth will come around someday
When I am going through some kind of blindness
That fills up my sight

I need to learn
To speak effective
I should have made
A love connection
Your chance is gone
It will never come again
Oh no no no, again

I know you've seen it all before
Pasted on the every kind
The one who thinks he'll be a star
Truth is I have always been
Distracted by the soul that lurks in me
And once again I am right

I need to learn
To be productive
Avoiding ways
Self destructive
My chance is here
I will never sin again
Oh no no no, again