

Focused, Red

I will tell you soon,
about the words used when the day has no room for us,
and for the hope that lies within.
and the love Ive longed for.
for with my hands in yours,
Ive held it so tight, in my last breath I will say your name.
and I will know the answer.

that of your inner self,
the unfading beauty of a gentle and quiet spirit so great in Gods eyes.
the sun rises, well wrap ourselves in his light.
and the love Ive longed for, and the hope that lies within.

I will tell you soon about the thoughts forgotten,
why my mind sings this familiar song.
Ive been crying over nothing, and felt the fear of truth as the day has no room for us.
I found the love I longed for to take me from this place.

My death is life.