

Fold Zandura, Forever Throw

i never knew a love so true until the night
until the day
i looked at you

the silver dust
the golden hue
of everything
im drawn into
i know its you

and it's you
who sings the morning
and it's you
who dreams the light
and you throw the stars forever
across the wide and trembling sky

but since that time
i've wandered far
and i've been blind
to who i am
and who you are

yes it's you
who sings the morning
i know it's you
who dreams the light
and you throw the stars forever
across the wide and trembling sky