

Fold Zandura, Stormy Hill

if only i could run away into the words ill never say it would be easier than this my soul facing you and only now we share the weight the sudden twisting turns of fate and all the plans for my escape im breaking

i fell awake (fell awake) into the life i dreamt away suddenly, i need more time and if the broken-ness i feel takes all my wounded life to heal to share one moments breath with you would be worth every tear into the life i live today

i fell awake (fell awake)
into the love that slipped away sadly, i need more time