

Fonos, Splendid

So the day begins completely.
Night time fades away discretely.
New day and it's dawn, surround me.
The taste of every day
Will come...
And take my soul away

And now this splendid thing that stands before my eyes
I'll take you hand in hand we dance.

Take me as I am or leave me.
Broken from your pain, believe me.
Only good will rise around you.
Sunlight from your eyes
Will drown...
The darkness from the skies.

And now this splendid thing that stands before my eyes
I'll take you hand in hand we dance
Like children never knowing where this like will land
We feel the pain of life no more.

Sunlight from your eyes will drown the darkness from the skies

And now this splendid thing that stands before my eyes
I'll take you hand in hand we dance
Like children never knowing where this like will land
We feel the pain of life no more.
No more... No more... No more... More...