Foo Fighters, Normal

Foo Fighters: Normal
The waves that silences break come again, one by one
I lay awake and I count til I drown
Turn up the room its getting too loud
I know I dont have to say it
Pick up and move and go find some new ground
Somewhere I know I can make it
But I wont give up
when I want it enough
No I wont give up
Anything, anyway, anyone, anyday
Cause I figured it out
Here and the now takes me day by day
Will you come out tonight
Will you back out, will you put up a fight
Turn me around and make everything
Make me normal from now on
Erased everyone Ive replaced
In the end theyre all gone
The faces all fade as the time passes by What could I do I was waiting for you
Grown sick and tired of faking
Give me those eyes when I give you the truth
Finally here for the taking
But I wont give up
When I want it enough
No I wont give up
Anything, anyway, anyone, anyday
Cause I figured it out
Here and the now takes me day by day
Will you come out tonight
Will you back down, will you put up a fight
Turn me around and make everything right
Make me normal from now on
Hey will you come out tonight
Will you back down, will you put up a fight
Turn me around and make everything right
Make me normal from now on
Ive figured it out here and the now
Takes me day by day
Hey will you come out tonight
Will you back down will you put up a fight
Turn me around and make everything right
Make me normal from now on
Hey will you come out tonight
Will you back down will you put up a fight
Turn me around and make everything right
Make me normal from now on
Make me normal from now on
Make me normal from now on
Make me normal from now on