

Format, One Shot, Two Shots

The feeling you forget
It's one shot, two shots
We'll make more sense
I knew that you'd be back
To start it up, let's start again

You never want to get away from what you've done
YOU never want to stop the things I've become
I know the reason and there's just no reason

All this time that I could waste
On all the time that I could stay
All the time I would you let you down
And all this time that I can be the one thing that you don't know baby
I know the reason you've been down
And there's just no reason

You'll never take this stop to make amends that we can't meet You're starting over to remember who you were Wasting everything on what you're living for
I know the reason and there's just no reason

All this time that I could waste
On all the time that I could stay
All the time I would let you down
and all this time that I can't be the one thing that you don't know baby
I know the reason you've been around
And there's just no reason

All you do
Do do do do do do do do
All you
All you
Do do do do do do do do

All this time that I could waste
On all the time that I could stay
All the time I would let you down
and all this time that I can't be the one thing that you don't know baby
I know the reason you've been down
And there's just no reason