

Forty Foot Echo, Born Yesterday

Could have been the silence that's awake am I waitin for another chance I lay down my head for the day
cuz' there's nothing else, anything

Could have been the silence that you made wasn't waiting for you I lay down my head for the day
cuz i'm so alone
so i'll take what I can't have but I wasn't born yesterday (wasn't born yesterday)
cuz I make believe, that you're inside my head
I make believe, that you're the only one

I remember what you used to say when we were alone
I held out my hand, you walked away are you searchin' for someone?

so i'll take what I can't have
but I wasn't born yesterday (wasn't born yesterday)
cuz I make believe, that you're inside my head
I make believe, that you're the only one
I tried to see, what keeps me hangin on

I stare inside my head
there inside my head
there inside my head
Inside my head

I make believe that you're inside my head
I make believe, I tried to see (don't know what the last line is.....)