

Four Star Mary, Run

if i could remember
a face i'd never seen
deep in these embers
that glow on endlessly
what would they tell me if others had lost their faith what would they sell me if we had lost our way

if i could wake up
and see another day
if i could fake all
the lies i'd never said
how would i know you
if i had turned away
what that would show you
i never could have said

and we've got to run
deep through these forests or hang upon the hill
i've got a wish
something to promise
but, no i never will

if i could walk out
and see another sky
if i could talk about the heavens that had cried how i would love you
and never walk away

how i would show you
i've never had to pray
if i could walk out
no, i'd never lie...
