

Four Year Strong, Live From The Crime Scene

Be sure to call out my name so I can find you at the tip of my tongue spiting down my throat and into my lungs every lover that you loved until another pushed and was shoved away so where does your heart beat tonight anyway?

I've been waiting for too long to see another night wasted so close you can taste it I've been waiting for too long

please forgive me for what I have to do but your eyes have wondered or so you knew to every other boy that can crack a smile make the girls jealous and stay awhile until you are through but you don't even have the slightest clue.

Wait until the coast is clear in the corner with a hush hush baby ill make you believe exactly what I want and when you BACK DOWN ill just push harder until you GIVE IN into every single line I throw your way and ill make you believe every word I say.

I wont take what you say to heart
I wont take what you say to heart

Another night
another hometown fight to keep the street from claiming what I know is right stay here where ships and wires meet wont you call it home don't forget to call me don't forget to call me handsome and then you'll KNOW YOU'RE DONE but will you realize that this soon dies
