

Fractured, Cry Blood

Beneath the lies,
you bring down your own demise.
Bring down the knife
just to end your sorry life.
I hear your cries
but they hide behind your disguise.
In your eyes,
I see boundaries now.

Pain and suffering,
poison drips and your wounds sting.
Dirty hands claw at your face,
deliver you to a better place.
Pick the scabs that never heal,
emotions you never feel
say goodbye to any hope,
as you hang from the rope.

Beneath the lies,
you bring down your own demise.
Bring down the knife
just to end your sorry life.
I hear your cries
but they hide behind your disguise.
In your eyes,
I see boundaries now.

Loss of all desire
your will to die grows higher and higher.
Your time is counting down
soon you'll be six underground.
Sever those vital cords, cut until you feel no more.
Watch the blood drip from your veins,
death is here coming in from the red rain

Beneath the lies,
you bring down your own demise.
Bring down the knife
just to end your sorry life.
I hear your cries
but they hide behind your disguise.
In your eyes,
I see boundaries now.