

Fractured, Try To Forget

Caught in the moment,
I'm lost in the past,
I'm afraid of the future,
it's moving much too fast.
The lights of today
have started to dim
The lights of tomorrow
soon will begin.
The things we shared,
the memories
They stood against what was meant to be.
Time will tell me
if I'm right,
but I lay awake, thinking of you tonight.

I try to forget
that look in your eyes
The tears I shed,
as I watched you cross the line.
You'll never know,
never wonder
never see your soul
torn asunder,
all you meant to me.

These helpless feelings I cannot hide.
The love, the pain
and all this hurt inside.
And once it's lost,
I'll never find,
someone like you
by my side.
I let it all
slip away,
through my hands evaporate.
Given up to think maybe
I let it all
slip away,
through my hands evaporate.
Given up to think maybe
things will change for you and me.

I try to forget
that look in your eyes
The tears I shed,
as I watched you cross the line.
You'll never know, never wonder
never see your soul
torn asunder,
all you meant to me.

I try to forget
I try to forget
I try to forget
that look in your eyes
The tears I shed,
as I watched you cross the line.
You'll never know, never wonder
never see
all you meant to me.
try to forget
try to forget
I try to forget

