

Fragma, Take This World For Real

Every now and then I'm weak
Every now and then I'm wrong
I should have let my feelings speak
'Cause every now and then they're strong

Maybe we falter from time to time
We often hide the way we feel
Surely we alter from time to time
But we take this world for real

We take this world for real
I am seeing you
Like a dream come true
We take this world for real
And a brand new day's
Just a thought away
We take this world for real
Life is close at hand
Make me understand
And tell me how you feel
I am seeing you
Like a dream come true
We take this world for real

Every now and then we cry
Every now and then we see
We could have let the years go by
'Cause every now and then we're free

Maybe we falter from time to time
We often hide the way we feel
Surely we alter from time to time
But we take this world for real

We take this world for real
I am seeing you
Like a dream come true
We take this world for real
And a brand new day's
Just a thought away
We take this world for real
Life is close at hand
Make me understand
And tell me how you feel
I am seeing you
Like a dream come true
We take this world for real