

Frank Barile, The Lights

I haven't felt this lonely
Since the first I saw your face
The lights are burning slowly
Cracklin' in the fireplace
The autumn winds are blowing
And we're still here in this place
But after everything
There's nothing that I would erase

And I'd do it all again
If I could do it all again
Your silver hair's still glowing
But are we ever going to end

Stay with me until I fall asleep
But don't let me fall in too deep
I think I'm losin' sight
But you're still shinin' bright
So don't turn out the lights

You say you're lonely
Well baby, that makes two of us
You and me only
But I'm the one who's serious
The lights are dimming
And there's nothing that can change it now
'Cause you're still spinning
On that fool that you still love somehow

And I'd do it all again
If I could do it all again
And I want you to love me
Like you used to love me
Before we ever met

Stay with me until I fall asleep
But don't let me fall in too deep
I think I'm losin' sight
But you're still shinin' bright
So don't turn out the lights

I haven't felt this lonely
Since the first I saw your face
The lights are dying slowly
Ashes in the fireplace
The winter winds are blowing
And we're still here in this place
But after everything
There's nothing that I would erase

Stay with me until I fall asleep
But don't let me fall in too deep
I think I'm losin' sight
But you're still shinin' bright
So don't turn out the lights
