

Frank Sinatra, I've Lost My Heart Again

(back-up) [Connie Haines]

I've lost my heart again, just how, I don't recall,

You found my heart and then, it wasn't mine at all.

I'm sure that all my life was just a prologue leading up to you.

The moment that we met, I knew.

I've lost my heart again, this time I know it's real,

I've lost my head again, and it's run away I feel.

Loving you the way I do, has changed my point of view,

So how can I lose my heart again when it belongs to you.

(I've lost my heart again, just how, I don't recall.)

(You found my heart and then, it wasn't mine at all)

[I'm sure that all my life was just a prologue leading up to you]

[The moment that we met, I knew.]

(I've lost my heart again, this time I know it's real.)

(I've lost my head again, it's run away, I feel.)

Loving you the way I do, has changed my point of view.
