

Franklin Daniel, Broken Valentine

I'm sitting all alone on a warm still night
The wind just a whisper of childish delight
Causing thoughts in my head that come fluttering by
Your image I now see in my mind's eye

I sit and look at you while you look at me
And I let my eyes drink you in thinking what a lucky person I've been

I love you Do you love me too? Don't ever go away
I wish so much just to be with you on this valentine's day
Of all the beauty in this world nothing that compares To you
Of all the wishes I have wished All my wishes are with you
Of all the dreams that ever were Not a single dream I don't see you
Not all dreams can come true
For now I find myself having to live without you.
I love you Do you love me too? Don't ever go away
I wish so much just to be with you on this valentine's day
