

Franklin Daniel, Everytime I Look Your Way

I hold back from you words by choice
I hold back emotions and thoughts I don't voice
So don't pay attention to the words I don't say
Because they might slip out on another day
But feel my emotion from the words you don't hear
I love you the same I'm forever sincere
I know that I love you girl
You can see it everytime I look your way.
I know that I can't live without you,
You know that I live my life for you every day
I know how you feel about me; I can see it in your eyes,
You are the light that shines in the darkness, shining ever so bright
The night we kissed the song that played
The memory of the love that forever stay.
