

Franks Enemy, Inevitable

It was inevitable in your heart
And in your mind and in all your being
So here we are sitting and staring
Arguing and glaring and you're not seeing
That nothing's working out anymore
And we'll all walk through our appointed doors
Praying for God's Light to be beyond
And bright enough to get all this behind
It was inevitable as you knew
You tried it on listened to Bill Gaither
It wore out quick clouds didn't leave
Back to the quick fix things you weren't too late for
As I made excuse upon excuse
Feeling trapped in a cage that I choose
Praying for God's Light to be beyond
And bright enough to cut through my wrongs
It was inevitable guess I knew
When I got changed and it was time to move
This web so fragile torn apart
With broken heart and nothing left to do
And I feel I'm stranded and I will die
But I'd gladly take it if also I could cry
Knowing that God's Light will be beyond
And bright enough to judge my every song
