

Freddie Hart, Already It's Heaven

Tonight I told all my friends goodbye
And then I walked away so they wouldn't see me cry
And headed for swinging doors as fast as I can
For what love has done to me shouldn't happen to a man
And now I find myself sitting here with you
And you make me wonder how I ever felt blue
You show understanding as few people know
And now that I found you I'll never let you go

Already it's heaven and we've barely met
And you haven't started loving me yet
Cause you've made it sweeter than it's ever been
And if you should love me what would it be then
Already it's heaven the long search is through
And it's good to know now that heaven is you
