

Freddie Hart, Love Took Command

Demanding were her eyes begging me to take her for my own
As we laid there on the burning bed of sand
While holding her so close feeling mixed emotions of our love
We were swallowed by the hunger for each other as love took command

Revealing was her kiss promising the things we've never done
We were reaching for the new world close at hand
Then got it by desire blinded by the passion in the sun
We knew nothing but the wanting for each other as love took command

The words I love you come to us so freely
While holding her beside me in the sand
Loving for the first time was so easy
As we lost control and love took command
[guitar]

The words I love you...
As we lost control and love took command
As we lost control and love took command
As we lost control and love took command
