

Freddie Hart, Twin Of An Angel

Oh the twin of an angel must be you must be you

They say that everybody has a twin someplace
And I believe that what they say is true
For when I look at you I'm looking heaven in the face
Oh the twin of an angel must be you

I believe that any man would feel the way I do
If he'd love someone the way I worship you
But just a very lucky get up grims of heaven too
Oh the twin of an angel must be you

I think of precious moments that you're mine
I only hope he didn't sin you here just on the borrowed time
For you want such a perfect gleam and to think there's really two
Oh the twin of an angel must be you
Oh the twin of an angel must be you must be you
