

Freddie Hart, Without You

When the dawn brings a brand new day I try to force myself to say
I'm finally over you
But sunshine doesn't mean a thing I spent my time remoring
The things we used to do
Yes you're gone and there's no way to go back to yesterday
And I don't know what I'll do without you

I've told myself a million times I've got to get you off my mind
But I never do
And so I'll spend another day remembering my life away
And missing you
Yes you're gone...
Without you
