From Zero, The Other Side

I'm the one you're waiting for Yes I'm the one Yes I'm the one Who decides when times aren't right? Who's left out - well I'm left out Don't try Just leave it It's all bitter change Can't we stay the same and give it all back to fall setting the course for an ever after Standing tall be my all setting the course for an ever after I want to be, I want to be I'll never walk alone when time is on my side What comes around goes around in time, in time She's the only time spent right Let's talk it out We'll talk it out 'cause I'm the one you're waiting for Yes I'm the one Yes I'm the one I don't believe it's right. And all the answers will never keep me warm at night when I am by myself Back on the run Enraged with the other side Deliver us all from dreams that I want to hide Back on the run It's safe just to be alive Consider the one that's left on the other side I want to be, I want to be Everything else that grabs when you're under I'll always win alone let alone Give it all back to fall Standing tall be my all Setting the course for an ever after I'll never walk alone when time is on my side. I don't believe in fright You know the others will Never keep me warm at night

When I am by myself
