

Frozen Land, Unsung Heroes

Legends tell the tales
For the rich and of the noble
Where's the common man? In a pool of blood

Who said life is fair?
For the victor go the spoils
Pull your weight or die, that's the rule of law

Ten against one
We'll show you courage like you've never seen
Under the sun
There're no men like us, better name us fiends

Open gates of heaven
Send the ones back down
Those who lost all
Never ran for the night

Call the depths of hell
Give them rope to climb
So the unsung heroes will rise

Loud men take the praise
Raise the fires, boast them selves
Never pull the sleigh, never pull their weight

Dreamers hold it in
Quiet ones are left with love
They see stars in sky, as their home someday

Ten against one
We'll show you courage like you've never seen
Under the sun
There're no men like us, better name us fiends

Open gates of heaven
Send the ones back down
Those who lost all
Never ran for the night

Call the depths of hell
Give them rope to climb
So the unsung heroes will rise
