Frozen Land, Unsung Heroes

Legends tell the tales For the rich and of the noble Where's the common man? In a pool of blood

Who said life is fair?
For the victor go the spoils
Pull your weight or die, that's the rule of law

Ten against one We'll show you courage like you've never seen Under the sun There're no men like us, better name us fiends

Open gates of heaven Send the ones back down Those who lost all Never ran for the night

Call the depths of hell Give them rope to climb So the unsung heroes will rise

Loud men take the praise Raise the fires, boast them selves Never pull the sleigh, never pull their weight

Dreamers hold it in Quiet ones are left with love They see stars in sky, as their home someday

Ten against one We'll show you courage like you've never seen Under the sun There're no men like us, better name us fiends

Open gates of heaven Send the ones back down Those who lost all Never ran for the night

Call the depths of hell Give them rope to climb So the unsung heroes will rise
