

Funeral For A Friend, Lazarus (In The Wilderness)

Revealing your desire
Upon these ashes
And your fear
Will swallow the river that divides

And there's no life in here at all
Just sickness and decay
There's no life in here at all
So take these dreams away

This burning ember
Will cover all you see
This burning ember
Will bury your heart

And there's no life in here at all
Just sickness and decay
There's no life in here at all
So take these dreams away

And what are we all built upon
So fragile in decay
What are we all built upon
So take these dreams away

Why need a, why need a new faith
When the old is still okay
Will you still, will you still love this
As the interest in it fades away

As it fades away
As the interest in it fades away
It fades away
The interest in it fades away.
