Funker Vogt, No Tomorrow

I met her in a restaurant A face that you will not forget A character you will not find In a thousand women you have met

Here she comes with a load of sorrows I don't care if there's no tomorrow Tonight, yes tonight, I feel good And tomorrow worse than I should

Her body in perfect shape A smile that will turn you down Resistance is impossible You could only give in