

Funker Vogt, Remember Childhood

There was a little child
Playing with it's friends
They had a lot of toys
And nothing more than fun

They didn't care for success
And had no tasks to master
Life was so easy to them
And just without any problems

Where is the little child in you?
Where has your childhood gone?
Who is the man in the mirror?
And where is your peaceful fun?

Your aim is success
Your life's no fun
Work like a machine
Happiness is gone

Remember that you're just a big child
Remember the time you lost your childhood
Remember the time before
Remember and enjoy it
