

Funker Vogt, The 3rd War

I'm sitting at the coast
see the gulls in the air
The dolphins come across the sea catching fish on thier way

Suddenly the bombs explode dead bodies on the water
The water is coloured red
I close my eyes in disbelive

The work is done
it is time to go away
The eclipse of the sun
here we cannot stay
The darkness will remain
trouble is ahead
There is no more to gain
our world is dead

The 3rd War has just begun no more dolphins in the sea War ships took thier place they destroy everything

Now the big bombs explode nuclear power crushes the Earth Atomic shells fly through the air they have replaced the birds

The work is done
it is time to go away
The eclipse of the sun
here we cannot stay
trouble is ahead
There is no more to gain
our world is dead
