

Funker Vogt, Traumatic Event

a long time ago you went off to seek your soul disappeared out of my life with a promise to return but you got lost on your way the girl I knew never came back you got trapped, lost inside yourself a shadow of your former self so I still try to figure out all about this traumatic event which changed your whole life completely and sent you off into la-la land your life turned upside down all provoked by tragic events it was too much to cope with it was too much to go on

I still try to reach you reach the girl I used to know I still refuse to accept that you are a soulless shell
