Fury In The Slaughterhouse, Around My World In

and now we've finally reached the point and you want to get in I guess that I should tell you that there's just one thing just a little journey, I have to send you on just to figure out where I'm coming from and where you do belong around my world in 80 days maybe more if it pays around my love, my evil ways around my head in 80 days discover dungeons of dispair that is what you have to share if you walk this way with me but our love will make us free might be that you'll like it could be that you're shocked but don't hesitate to open doors that seem locked maybe you'll find fear maybe you'll see clear maybe you'll find an open heart so sincere that want's you to be near around my world in 80 days...
