

Fury In The Slaughterhouse, Diggin' The Soil

give me time to think man the future's plain to see alarm bells ringing in my head smells like conspiracy everything too easy the curtain is never closed someone might believe this shit but I'm not one of those

maybe all of us are blind too many struggles left behind I don't know why we are bored beyond belief we came a long way out of nowhere diggin' the soil tried to find I don't know what

diggin' the soil
can't remember where we started somehow it seems we forgot so we keep on crawling in the dirt
diggin' the soil

we're dancing on the edge and swim against the flood our hearts are waterproof and colder, colder gets the blood something feels so unreal doubts eating the will bloodless, scared, suspicious but the horse is riding still maybe all of us are blind...