I saw you from behind on the corner looking just like you did then
You slipped away into the crowded street
And I swiftly chased after you

I thought it was natural to always be by your side
Back then, you loved me as I am, and I hurt you
"I won't let you go...I don't want to..."
Do they still reach you?
That time and those unchangeable feelings

Only the pain I feel tells me I'm alive
I'm so stupid
You held me when I was afraid of the dark
I won't forget that

I still remember the day we first met
You were staring at me as the wind quietly stirred your hair
I thought I could always be with you over anyone else
I thought if I was with you, even I could laugh

Separating is so painful
We'd been running blind until today

Ever since i disappeared, you've cried and worried
But i watched you walk along with someone i don't know
You've grown up a bit and your smile is even more lovely
You'll never cry again, never cry again
Show me your smile
