

Gaelic Storm, Faithful Land

Fields of green Stonewalls run between
Gray skies above
A falling leaf
The rock that sits beneath These are all the things I love. and when I'm far away somehow they live inside of me It's just a feeling I can't touch, something I cant see, something I cant see, lives inside of me,

It's In my bones and in my blood
Dont know what it is, but I know its good Beneath my feet this faithful land
Its all I understand

City glow bustling streets below the traffic's hum windows gleam plumes of smoke and steam It's a world that I've become and when I'm far away somehow they live inside of me It's just a feeling I can't touch, something I cant see, something I cant see

It's In my bones and in my blood
Dont know what it is, but I know its good
Beneath my feet this faithful land
Its all I understand

On all these roads that rise ahead Ill find another reason to believe another place another part of me Ill never have to leave. Ill never have to leave, chorus

Fields of green
Gray skies above
