

Galt Areus, Is There Anyone Left?

anyone left there inside,
anyone left alive?
will I hear your whispers,
or the deafening wail of sirens?
tell me is there anyone inside?
I know you waited for me here,
blind by your tears,
all alone, all these years,
could I lose you dear,
when I am so near?
thought I might forget you in time,
you never even left my mind.
now I've come to find you,
but I fear I've come too late,
tell me there's one life left to save...
no, this don't stop here,
though we're long past hope,
because you and I know it's meant to be...
and if all I have found is silent now,
then I'll lay down too,
near you.