Ganggajang, Distraction

So this is the house, the house that we built So this is the car, the car that we bought So these are the things, the things that money can buy You say that you want them, well so do

Oh what's this direction, oh darlin' anyway? Cause for the things you want, there's a price to pay

Distraction, keeping you away from me Distraction, keeping me from where I want to be Distraction, for a moment or a mile, The days turn into weeks, the weeks keep turning

I wake up, I walk around, remember what I'm doing here I break down, I clean up, I make the bed we sleep in You wake up, you walk around while I'm still sleeping We're always in a hurry for love not money And the line's always busy while we're trying to get through

Oh what's this direction, oh darlin' anyway? Cause for the things you want, there's a price to pay

Distraction, keeping you away from me Distraction, keeping me from where I want to be Distraction, for a moment or a mile, The days turn into weeks, the weeks keep turning

Distraction, keeping you away from me Distraction, keeping me from where I want to be Distraction, keeping you away from me Keeping me away from you