

Ganggajang, Future Days

I can still recall, scenes at the start of it all
And how the colours changed, I know, I painted every wall
All the things we didn't do
All the big plans made for me and you
They may still be dreams but there nothing without you
So save your innocence and joy,
Your moods and all your ploys
And all that you might be
Spend today with who you must but save
All your future days for me

In the night I hear you cry, sobbing as you decide
'Am I happy now' - these things you just can't hide
So save your innocence and joy,
Your moods and all your ploys
And all that you might be
Spend today with who you must but save
All your future days for me

Future days, future days
