

Garret, Her Song

How I wish I'd know to Show the feelings I've got for you That you're inside me
From my rise till I fall asleep Shame I can't remember my own dreams Sure a world I've built for you and me Where times do change
But our hearts remain the same But outside the world turns stories end up wrong I hope ours makes it through so that I'll always find myself close to you Shall confusion set in after doubt has come, hitting home Shall distance fall in between and hinder us from living the dream Then let the world turn so we can get along But I hope the ways I chose are the ones that lead me right back to you
