

Gary Allan, As Long As You're Looking Back

Got your feet wet, got your heart broke
Didn't pan out like you'd hoped
But you played fair and you swear that
Love had the damn deck stacked

And you just won't put it behind you
But you sit and you dwell on the past
Well, can't you see, you can't see tomorrow
As long as you're looking back

You had someone you could count on
You believed in bet your life on
But your back turned and the knife fell
You swear that payback is gonna be hell

Now you just can't trust anybody

'Cause that friend was just a snake in the grass
Boy, can't you see, you can't see tomorrow
As long as you're looking back

You can't move on
'Til you let go
Of what's gone

No, you're never gonna trust anybody
If you sit here and you dwell on the past
Fool can't you see, you can't see tomorrow
As long as you're looking back

Got your feet wet, got your heart broke
Didn't pan out like you'd hoped
