Gary Numan, Sleep By Windows

You can cry by my window You can crawl on the floor You can scream if you want to But I won't unlock the door

You can sleep in bus shelters You can sleep in the park But I'll rip up the trees Until you tear yourself apart

But I don't love you No I don't love you Do you dream?

Back to surveillance Open eyes and wash out 'tear' A sign that says 'no exit' And 'no-one can save you here'

I could talk about my programme Where everything is white I could specialise in pictures Where nothing's ever right

But I don't love you No I don't love you Do you dream?

We are just sound We are just noise And we are all here to lie Do you dream?

You sleep by windows You sleep by windows

Do you cry? Do you dream? Do you? Did you?
