

Gavin Mikhail, Catch Your Fall

It's that time
To sink or swim I try
To be stronger inside
And rise above myself
I know for you
It must be painful to Carry the way you do
Though I can't be you
I see through
Your silence, feigned indifference gets you by
And, though I'm trying, I can't tell you when we'll fly
Just know...

I care I'll lift you up to See where I will always
Be there any time you call
And I will take us back
Into a life of more than we've
Been through, beyond the lengths that we
Went to to be here after all
And though we sometimes stumble and you're scared
I'm always there to catch your fall...

It's hard, I know
So much we can't control
You watch, wonder, and hope
For all the best
For us
I know for you
It must be painful to
Carry us still but you
Always carry through
When I need you
Your silence, feigned indifference gets you by
And though I'm trying I can't tell you when we'll fly
Just know...

I care I'll lift you up to
See where I will always
Be there any time you call
And I will take us back
Into a life of more than we've
Been through, beyond the lengths that we
Went to to be here after all
And though we sometimes stumble and you're scared
I will be there to catch your fall...

Still counting down the days to when we'll finally arrive
But I am here now, you are safe now, we're O.K. now, we'll survive
And I will hold you when you cry...

Oh I care I'll lift you up to
See where I will always
And I will take us back
Into a life of more than we've
Been through, beyond the lengths that we
And though we sometimes stumble and you're scared
I'm always there to catch your fall...
