

Gavin Mikhail, Sitting On The Edge Of The World

Sitting on the edge of the world and the life and the love of a world surround me... I'll tell a man that

But I still wish
Wait for something
Still need
All the man
Until he gives it all away
And if I still need
Hope that all is well
He gives it all away...

Sitting on the edge of the world and the sun and the clouds of a fall surround me... And fall away the

But I still wish
Wait for him
And still he
Digs away
And still he covers everything
And if I still need
Hope that all is well
He covers everything...

Sitting on the edge of the world and the waves will come in the tide to change me... But finish every

I'm the one to open outward
A great expanse am I
The one to open outward
I can fly
The one to open outward
Into a blazing sky
The one to open outward
I can fly...

Sitting on the edge of the world and the life and the love of a world surround me... I'll tell a man that

But I still wish
Wait for something
Still need
All the man
Until he gives it all away
And if I still need
Hope that all is well
He gives it all away...