

Gay Dad, Dimstar

don't you ever wonder why you always break the same way fix it up and go again cos nothing ever stays the same swinging for a main attraction gets you where you need to be silver beads slide through your body like to feel them running free

I see you
inside me

dim star

so beautiful

you don't have to wait

shine before you fade

stay beautiful

the end is just a breath away moving through the city exit looking to the other side if happiness is easy you can step on through it's open wide burning up inside yourself deep within a frozen smile who's to say your prayers at night really don't remember why

I see you

I know you

if you're feeling dragged around no one there to make it easy just the sound of screaming people want a piece of you for keeps so give them what they think they need you

dark eye for a city skyline latitude is all we need shadow lost in conversation vanity is bleeding me

for you

for me too
