

Geoff Byrd, Before Kings

Try to find love
You take her into your arms
and time stands still

You've been searching for the one
She's something special and now you are under her spell

Come to find out
She's everything you've ever wanted
How can it be

Takes your breath away
Every time you see your face
On the big screen

She lays it down before kings
Stars in her eyes and shiny golden rings
Promises slip the skin
Disillusionment can now begin

She comes out just fine
Nicole learns to flourish on the other side
Time stands still for a picture

His heart's not capable
Of conjuring a smile
As he approaches the press line

She lays it down before kings
Stars in her eyes and shiny golden rings
Promises slip the skin
Disillusionment can now begin

Crisis is over as he walks away

Promises all are broken
And there's nothing left to say and now
In her eyes the spark is gone
No more feeling alone
No more feeling at all

Try to find love
You take her into your arms
And time stands still

You've been searching for the one
She's something special
and now you are under her spell

She lays it down at your feet
Begs forgiveness as she makes you weak
Who is in complete control
Is it you or is it cold Nicole