

George Ducas, I'd Be Lying

I could say I've never been better I hardly miss you since you've gone
And losing you was for the best and life goes on
I wake up just fine each morning the same way I always have
I don't toss and turn at night and my heart don't hurt that bad
But I'd be lying I'd be lying I'd be lying

[guitar]

I could cross my heart and tell you this house still feels like home
And I'm enjoying all this time on my hands now I'm alone
And there's no regrets that haunt me blowing on the midnight wind
And I never wish I could hold you here in my arms again
But I'd be lying I'd be lying I'd be lying

I could look you in the eyes and swear that it's all true
That it's only a matter of time till I stop loving you
But I'd be lying I'd be lying I'd be lying
But I'd be lying I'd be lying I'd be lying

[guitar]