

George Duke, Whatever Happened To...

Whatever happened to honor and love
Self respect and the will to rise above
Whatever happened to the right thing to do
Love your brother, let peace abide with you

Whatever happened to live and let live
Tolerance and a willingness to give

Whatever happened to the goodness in a man
Was good ever there or has good lost its hand

Whatever happened to the drive to learn
To better oneself just because one yearns
Whatever happened to the unique voice
The one of a kind giving us a greater choice

Whatever happened to striving towards goals

Seems we're our own worst enemy and foe
