

George Ezra, Pretty Shining People

Me and Sam in the car, talking 'bout America Heading to the wishing well, we've reached our last resort I turned to him said:
"Man help me out I fear I'm on an island in an ocean full of change Can't bring myself to dive in to an ocean full of change Am I losing touch
Am I losing touch now?"

He said:
Why, why, what a terrible time to be alive if you're prone to over thinking and Why, why, what a terrible time to be alive
if you're prone to second guessing

hey pretty smiling people
we're alright together
we're alright together
hey pretty smiling people
we're alright together
we're alright together, hey!

took it in turns to dream about the lottery and what we might have done if we had entered and had won we're each convinced that nothing would have change but if this were the case why is it a conversation anyway?
Are we losing touch
Are we losing touch now?"

He said:
Why, why, what a terrible time to be alive
if you're prone to over thinking and Why, why, what a terrible time to be alive
if you're prone to second guessing

hey pretty smiling people
we're alright together
we're alright together
hey pretty smiling people
we're alright together
we're alright together, hey!
