

George Harrison, Far east man

While the world wages war It gets harder to see Who your friends really are I won't let him down G