

George Harrison, When every song is sung

When every song is sung When every bell's been rung When every picture's hung up I'll still love y